Secure Technology Alliance Membership Levels

Leadership

Offers the most advantages for organizations that desire full benefits in the Secure Technology Alliance. This membership level is open to any firm, partnership, incorporated industry association, educational institution, or governmental body.

Principal

Principal members have all the benefits of General, Associate, and Individual members as well as eligibility to be elected to serve on the Alliance Board as a voting member. Ability to chair the various working committees, serve on a forum steering committee, and be elected as an officer of a steering committee.

General Member

Typically, these organizations are committed leaders in their respective markets but do not wish to commit the financial or personnel resources to participate at the Leadership or Principal levels. General members are invited to participate in all Alliance activities.

Associate

Associate Membership is open to any government agency. Associate members are invited to participate in all Alliance activities, attend conferences and member meetings and participate in STA and forum working committees. They are also eligible to chair working committees.
Individual & Student

Open to individual consultants, contractors, or other professionals who are not full-time or part-time employees. Individual members are invited to participate in all Alliance activities, attend conferences and member meetings, and participate in STA and forum working committees.
